Address Entry Examples

(January 4, 2026 version)

The specification method for postal addresses when sending payments in ISO20022 format varies by country, and the specification method in the case of specifying that all address fields are structured is provided on the Swift (Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication) website. This file provides examples of notation for each country taken from the Swift website. (These examples are based on the "Samples" sheet of the version 1.6 file.)

Please confirm the latest version on the Swift website.*
